
Research assistant position in Infection and Immunity (Prof. González)

The Infection and Immunity lab at the Institute for Research in Biomedicine, IRB, located in Bellinzona (Switzerland), is looking for a Research Assistant in the field of Infectious disease. The candidate will be integrated into an interdisciplinary research project in the lab of Santiago F. González (IRB, Bellinzona) <https://www.irb.usi.ch/santiago-f-gonzalez> in a project that aims to understand the role of inflammation in respiratory infections.

The ideal candidate should have relevant training in immunology, cell biology and infectious disease, be proactive, motivated and be a good team player.

Applications should be sent by December 15, 2025 to Santiago González at santiago.gonzalez@irb.usi.ch

The one single PDF file application should be written in English and contain a motivation letter (max. 1 page), CV (max 2 pages), and names and email addresses of two referees.